About Greater Hartford Cooperative Parish (GHCP)

The GHCP is part of the Connectional Ministries of the New York Annual Conference. There are seven churches that make up the GHCP: Bloomfield UMC, The Greater Hartford Korean UMC, Newington UMC, North UMC, Rocky Hill UMC, Trinity UMC, UMC of Hartford, West Hartford UMC, and Wethersfield UMC. These churches have, under the guidance of the United Methodist Book of Discipline, established their purpose: “to help the churches minister to all the needs of all the people of the community.”

With a three-part approach of SPIRITUAL, STRUCTURAL AND FUTURE-ORIENTED, the GHCP carries out their mission.

SPIRITUAL:

- To connect us as parts of the body of Christ so that we are united.
- To allow members of Cooperative Parishes the opportunity to exercise their unique spiritual gifts and call to ministry in ways that may not have been previously accessible to them.

STRUCTURAL:

- To give every congregation access to a wide variety of lay and clergy leadership skills, abilities and experiences.
- To offer every Cooperative Parish an opportunity to expand their ministries and impact the community in new ways.

FUTURE-ORIENTED:

- To cast a shared vision that becomes the focus, road map and rally cry toward God's preferred future for the Cooperative Parish.
- To align ministries and resources to God's preferred future so that the Cooperative Parish comes together to most effectively make disciples who transform the world.
